Solar power is the conversion of energy from sunlight into electricity, either directly using photovoltaics (PV), indirectly using concentrated solar power, or a combination. Concentrated solar power systems use lenses or mirrors and tracking systems to focus a large area of sunlight into a small beam. Photovoltaic cells convert light into an electric current using the photovoltaic effect.

Although other forms of renewable energy have also been exploited for desalination processes, solar energy is of special interest as it is the most abundant permanent source of energy on earth [1]. The earth receives on average 1361 W/m<sup>2</sup> of radiation from the sun every year [1]. 30% of this is scattered or reflected, leaving 70% for harvesting [22,23].
